Reflections of the Week

Jesus loved to teach through parables. There's a reason for this. It enabled the common person to understand and remember what he was trying to teach. It's not like people could write down what he said and highlight the important parts to memorize or to further analyze. Through parables, Jesus was able to give them lessons they could both understand and remember. Because the subjects of these parables—seeds, plants, fruit, harvests—were things they could relate to, they were able to understand the surface meaning. Every growing season, they saw land yielding fruit. Over time, they saw tiny mustard seeds grow into huge shrubs. Because they were stories, they were memorable. And because they related to their daily activity, they would be reminded of them often. So over time, they continued to ponder their meaning, much as we would with a passage from a book that we highlighted and saved.

Mark does not tell us how Jesus explained these parables to his disciples, though we do hear Jesus' interpretation of others. How would Jesus have explained these two? He introduces both as ways to understand the kingdom of God. We can conclude that the kingdom of God is something that is growing, something that grows imperceptibly, but something that grows magnificently. The fruit of this growth is enjoyed by others: grain by those who eat it, shade by the birds who dwell in it, the kingdom by those who reach it. In time, all these features emerge from a tiny seed hidden in the fertile soil.

Before the seeds from either of Jesus' parables grow to become food or shade, they break open, receive nutrients from the soil, grow roots deep into the ground, then finally emerge in the form of a tiny shoot. We see none of this, for it happens underground—a mystery invisible to our eyes. Here is another way this is like the kingdom. As Paul wrote in the second reading, "we walk by faith, not by sight" (2 Corinthians 5:7). We cannot always see how the work we do is building up the kingdom. We can't see the destination of our journey to the kingdom. But we put our trust in Jesus, whom we trust will show us the way. Like the living thing inside the seed, we trust that we will blossom and bear fruit.

Question of the Week

How do I walk by faith, showing my trust in God and things I cannot see? Can I recall a recent occasion in which I chose to put my trust in God?

Office of Faith Formation

Who came up with the idea to dedicate June to the Sacred Heart of Jesus? None other than our Lord Himself. The vulnerable part of his body, the enflamed living heart, is exposed, encircled with thorns. Such revelation of burning love, mercy, and grace for the salvation of all. When appearing to St. Margaret Mary Alacoque in 1674, He revealed His sorrowful passion, even until now. He just does not let go of us! Let us resolve to heighten our devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus in reparation for our sins and lukewarmness. Sacred Heart of Jesus, have mercy on us.

KINGDOM

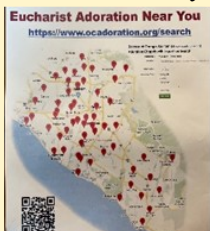

Last week, we reflected on royalty and our membership in Jesus' extended family. This week, a similar theme emerges. Jesus seemed to notice his surroundings (including weeds and birds, and flowers) and connect it to the larger picture. This time, a very small seed receives significant attention: it speaks of the kingdom of God! 'To what shall we compare the kingdom of God... It is like a mustard seed that, when sown in the ground, is the smallest of all seeds on earth. But once it is sown, it springs up and becomes the largest of plants and puts forth large branches, so that the birds of the sky can dwell in its shade.' Can we contribute in small ways to build the kingdom of God?

Many would agree that the Stewardship Ministry at our small parish of St. Mary's is gracefully thriving! If you trace their activities, updated weekly in the right column of this page, you will discover the year-round events they facilitate to celebrate our faith and bring everyone together. Everyone's contributions surely result in an abundant community bonding and joy. Pictured above are three members standing in front of one of the twenty mysteries of the Rosary, the second Luminous, the Baptism of Jesus. This project spearheaded by our pastor, Fr. Quang and others, at the Marian Garden at Christ Cathedral. Stay tuned for an update on our upcoming bus pilgrimage to St. Michael's Abbey and this precious garden of the twenty mysteries of the Holy Rosary.
